46. The Oak Trees

Once upon a time, there was a jungle. It was full of oak trees. There were big oak trees, small oak trees and so on. Every day, woodcutters would come and chop down some oak trees. The trees did not like this at all. They hated being chopped. One day, the oak trees complained to God Jupiter, the god of sky and thunder. They asked Jupiter, "Why do we have to live like this? Why do farmers and woodcutters chop us down with their axes?" Jupiter said to the trees, "You should be happy. Why are you all so sad? Your wood is used for making many beautiful things. You are doing a wonderful job helping the people. If farmers did not chop you, you would be of no use." Hearing this, the oak trees realised their worth. After that day, they never complained about being chopped down.

Moral: We should feel happy by helping others.

48. The Toffee Thief

Once upon a time, there was a girl named Patsy. One day, her mother said to her, "Patsy, please get me some eggs from the grocery shop." So, off went Patsy to the grocery shop. As the shopkeeper was busy with the other customers, Patsy glanced around the shop. She saw a jar full of toffees. Quickly, she slid her hand inside the jar and stole some toffees. When she got home, her mother asked, "From where did you get the toffees?" Patsy told her the truth. Her mother said, "It's bad to steal. The shopkeeper might not be looking at you but God is always looking at you. So, one should never steal." Patsy said, "I am sorry, Mother. I will return the toffees to the shopkeeper." So, off she went to the shop. The shopkeeper was happy at her honesty and gave her some toffees as a reward.

Moral: Honesty is the best policy.

80. A Pound of Butter

A long time ago, there was a farmer. He used to make his living by selling butter. He used to sell a pound of butter to a baker every day. One day, the baker thought, 'Let me weigh this butter. I wish to see if it is of the correct weight or not.' To his surprise, he found that the weight was wrong. This angered him and he took the farmer to the court. The judge asked the farmer, "How do you measure the butter?" The farmer replied, "Your Honour, I do not have a proper measure but I do have a scale." The judge asked, "Then how do you weigh the butter?" The farmer replied, "Sir, I have been buying a pound loaf of bread from the baker. So, when the baker brings the bread, I put it on the scale and I give him the same weight in butter." The baker was speechless.

Moral: We get back in life what we give to others.
